Career Services on Campus

As of July 1, 2011, FLC Career Services was reconfigured to better serve the needs of Fort Lewis College students and alumni. Instead of one office, there are now three Career Services Coordinator offices with one Coordinator assigned to each school. The philosophy behind the change is that Career Services will be able to serve FLC students and alumni more efficiently and effectively, offering specialized knowledge about internships, graduate programs, and careers commonly pursued by students in each school. Career Services is focused on career planning and preparation, and offers assistance with:

- Resumes
- Internships
- Interview preparation
- Graduate School planning
- Job searches
- Networking

Additionally, the Coordinators collaborate on career workshops and events. In January, an upgrade to the Skyhawks Job Source web-based system will be introduced, making it easier to look for part-time or full-time jobs and internship positions. A new addition that will be introduced is a resume building module.

Alumni can help strengthen career services at FLC by getting connected and sharing internship and potential employment opportunities within their field with the appropriate Career Services Coordinator. Many FLC Alumni already play a role in getting current students matched with internship opportunities and even post-graduate employment, and their involvement is greatly appreciated! With the new Career Services Coordinators in place, this effort can be expanded, which serves to strengthen the Fort Lewis College experience for current and future students. FLC Alumni are also invited to take advantage of the services offered by each school under this new structure.

Another way in which Alumni can support the career development effort is to become a career mentor to a current student. For a student hoping to pursue a career in a particular field, talking with a Fort Lewis College alumnus who has found success in that field can be a huge benefit. Not only can the student gain first hand insight into how to best pursue a certain career path from someone who has done it, but the fact that the mentor was once an FLC student makes it easier for the student to identify with that person.

Please contact the appropriate Career Services Coordinator below with any questions you have about the new structure, or to share professional development opportunities with current FLC students.

Your support is truly appreciated!
