
this summer, July 5th – Aug. 30th
at Howland Public Library
For students entering grades 6-9 in Sept. 2012

Do you like to read, show off your literary talents, enjoy a little competition with friends?

Well, then…

Join Howland Public Library's 9th annual Battle of the Books beginning July 5th. You'll read great books, meet with coaches every Thurs. from 5-7 pm to learn book-trivia, enjoy pizza and snacks, and participate in book-related activities. You will compete in mini-battles based on the books you've read with local libraries in August. The library will supply the books in July, however, if you'd like to start reading sooner, see Ginny.

An All-Star Team will be formed to compete on Sept. 8th against twenty-five other library teams to Battle it out for the Regional Championship.
(the Beacon Bees are the 2010 Regional Champions!!)

Battle of the Books is a nationally recognized literature contest. Students are urged to sign-up at the library, or by contacting Ginny Figlia, Youth Services Librarian, at 831-1134, x. 103 or youth@beaconlibrary.org.
