Keeping Well the Road
Alumnae Bios—The Road, May 2013

Ashley MULVIHILL McDonald'00 and Jennifer MULVIHILL Lancefield'97
Fashion for a Rainy Day
Designed in Toronto. Made in Vancouver.

Sisters Ashley and Jennifer comprehend the importance of being prepared for extreme weather conditions.

While working as a buyer at Selfridges (UK) and Holt Renfrew (Canada), Ashley developed a keen eye for trend spotting and recognizing strong sellers in the retail market. Meanwhile, Jenn's background in finance, combined with being a music industry veteran in New York, equips her with a well-practiced hand in marketing and promotion.

Designer Sarah HOPGOOD'00 graduated from Parsons in New York in 2006, and a year-long internship with Theory led her to a job offer from Ports 1961 in China. She returned with a complex understanding of the garment industry in Asia and began growing her roots in the Canadian fashion industry with the Hudson's Bay Company's private label before taking on the role of head designer at Trout.

Together with their innate sense of style and complimentary skill sets, these alumnae recognize the need for fun, versatile rainwear that does not sacrifice style for function.
