CMMC is pleased to offer our first summer offering for kids! We developed a 1-week, one-half day summer STEM course during the week of July 16 – 20. The title of the course is “Electrifying Games.” There will be a session in the morning (9 – 12) and a second identical session in the afternoon (1 – 4). The sessions will be held at the Middle/High School in Chatham. You can sign your child up for either one. The Electrifying Games is for children going into 6, 7 or 8th grades in September. The activities are based on the hands-on engineering challenges first shown on the Emmy and Peabody-award winning PBS series, Design Squad®.

The program will be led by Karen Manning, 15 years as a science educator and currently a 7/8 grade science teacher in Chatham. Recently Karen attended a weeklong STEM education Gateway program at the Museum of Science in Boston.

Registration opens June 12 — closes as spaces are filled.
