

2013 AIA LOUISIANA EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE

PRESIDENT

JEFFREY K. SMITH

Jeffrey has been an active AIA member for over 30 years. He is a graduate of the University of Louisiana at Lafayette and is a principal in Holly & Smith Architects, with studios in Hammond and New Orleans. Over the past 26 years Jeffrey has worked to establish a culture of design at Holly & Smith Architects, which has manifested into over 60 design awards. His professional activities include past President of AIA New Orleans (2009), where he helped guide the state's largest component into a permanent home, the AIA New Orleans Design Center located on St. Charles Avenue at Lee's Circle. He helped both AIA New Orleans and AIA Louisiana with their design awards program for many years and served as an Editorial Board member for (now defunct) ArchitectureSouth Magazine. Governor Jindal has appointed Jeffrey as the architect member of the Fire Prevention Board of Review, where he has served for 3 years. In academia, he has been a guest lecturer and studio critic at University of Louisiana at Lafayette, LSU and Louisiana Tech University throughout his career. He also presented H/S Architects design work at the first Celebrate Architecture Conference. As a community leader, Jeffrey has served as a member of the Hammond Historic District and the Hammond Downtown Development District where he worked to establish a design committee to oversee designs of buildings within the district. Most recently, he has served as Chairman of the Steering Committee for both Tangipahoa Parish and City of Hammond new master planning efforts.

VICE PRESIDENT – DISTRICT B

LISA H. NICE, AIA, LEED AP

Lisa has been practicing architecture for twenty years. [Wow, I just calculated that as I typed this little intro and cannot believe it has been that long! I'm almost an adult architect. Time flies when you're having fun/working non-stop.] She joined the well known firm of Post Architects in 1996 after graduating from LSU with a Bachelor of Architecture in 1992 and made partner at Post in 2008. Lisa has lead project teams of all types and sizes, some as small as graphic design for way-finding signage to some as large as a convention center, including award winning projects like the River Center Expansion in downtown Baton Rouge and Christ the King Catholic Church and Student Center on the LSU campus. The challenge and the variation in projects are what make her job her passion [and create some lack of sleep]. She has served on the AIA Baton Rouge Board for the last five years as Director, President-Elect, President and Past-President. As the fancy extra letters after her name imply, she is a LEED Accredited Professional. Outside of work, she enjoys spending time with Jeff, her husband of 17 years, and her beautiful seven year old twin girls, Aubrey and Rhiannon, who started the first grade this year. [Talk about time flying!] She is also a partner in Nice Foods Ltd., about to open lots of Dunkin Donuts around south Louisiana. And, she collects comics. [Yes, the paper books with pictures and words.]

SECRETARY/TREASURER

SAMUEL J. HERPIN, AIA

A native of Kaplan, Louisiana, Sam graduated from the University of Southwestern Louisiana in 1983. After obtaining valuable experience with several respected architectural firms, Sam reunited with former co-worker Chris Remson and Chris' wife Trula Haley Remson in 1999 to eventually form Remson Haley Herpin Architects (RHHA). Sam has served as Board Secretary for AIABR, and is currently on the Committee on Architecture for Education-AIA; Pre-K thru 12 Subcommittee. In addition to spending time with his wife and three children, Sam is a Board Member of Sunrise Rotary and is continuing service emissary to Junior Achievement for Sunrise Rotary. Past community service includes St. Vincent DePaul Society, Design Professional Chair for Capital Area United Way, and career sponsor to several Boy Scouts of America Eagle Scouts. Sam and his business partners believe that RHHA has a duty to community service and continuously provide pro-bono services to non-profit organizations, as well as encourage staff involvement in community services.
