

Total Recall Review

By: Magnus Canty

A factory worker starring Colin Farrell lives in a chemical wasteland on Earth with only two areas that aren't toxic. He uses recall, which then puts him in a real-like dream where he is a spy. He doesn't know if what he is doing is real or not. His wife becomes against him and he meets Melina (Jessica Biel) who saves him from a horde of guards. He then finds a secret message giving him something he doesn't know what to do with. They then go on to the train that goes through the Earth to go to different areas. They join the resistance and go to the nuclear city to meet with the leader. The police then interrupt them and almost everyone is killed except Douglas, which then goes and saves Melina. They then go onto the mega train, which holds the C.I.A. They plant a bomb on the train. While Douglas and the C.I.A are fighting, the bomb goes off. Melina tries to shoot the C.I.A but then he shoots her. Douglas saves Melina from getting blown up. He then gets a concussion and wakes up later in a hospital room with his wife above him. He finds out she is still against him. He finds out he is on top of a building where he finds Melina which then she hugs him. While they are hugging Douglas sees a Recall sign, which then gives him the fact that everything that happened was real. The movie then cuts.
