

Secret Menu By Olivia Campbell

Many restaurants and fast-food restaurants try to include delicious names for their foods, and pictures that make a customer's stomach growl. They try to tell you how mouth-watering all of their varieties are. But one thing they don't tell you, the customer, is that there is a secret menu. The customers have to find that out on their own. Not all restaurants have one, but if they do you can only find it online. (Just Google 'secret menus'.) For example, did you notice how it's odd that In-N-Out Burger only has about four things on their menu? Well they have a secret menu, and they have twenty-one things on it. You could choose from Cheese Fries (Fries with a layer of cheese on top) to a Neapolitan Shake (Chocolate, vanilla, and strawberry ice cream blended together into one shake). Many other places, like Arby's, Burger King, Chick-fil-a, Chipotle, Chili's, Dairy Queen, Fat Burger, Jamba Juice, KFC, Little Caesars, Long John Silvers, McDonalds, Popeyes, Sonic, Starbucks, Subway, Taco Bell, Wendy's, and White Castle have secret menus. So next time you go to one of those places, order something off of the secret menu.
