

Dear Maggie,

I am having issues with school. I was hoping you could help me out! I am not doing good in school with grades and friends...whenever I try to make friends I can't. They always end up ignoring me and thinking I'm weird. I can't help it if I'm different!!! With grades well I don't like to study so it makes it hard. Also I don't like homework so I don't do it...please help Maggie!!!!

From,

Problemperson100

Dear Promblemperson100,

I think you should just be yourself and eventually someone will like you! Also you could try to reach out to people more like yourself. You can also join clubs and outside activities. You just have to keep reaching out to people and you will find someone that's like you! With school try getting a tutor to help and also contact your teachers. You should also go to homework club after school sometimes, who knows maybe you will even meet some people!

From,

Maggie

###