

Institute for Philosophy & Religion

Nicholas Wolterstorff, Professor of Philosophy Emeritus
Yale University

“Rethinking Religion and Art”

Wednesday, October 3, 2012, 5:00 PM
Boston University School of Law
Barristers Hall
765 Commonwealth Avenue, First Floor

Nicholas Wolterstorff is Noah Porter Professor Emeritus of Philosophical Theology, Yale University and is a Senior Fellow at the Institute for Advanced Studies in Culture, at the University of Virginia. He has received many fellowships, including ones from the NEH and the Danforth Endowment, and is past President of the American Philosophical Association (Central Division) and of the Society of Christian Philosophers; he is also a fellow of the American Academy of Arts and Sciences.

Prof. Wolterstorff is on the editorial boards of Faith and Philosophy and Topics in Philosophy, and is a member of the evaluation panels for the NEH. Among the lectures he has given are the Wilde Lectures at Oxford University, the Gifford Lectures at St Andrews University, and the Stone Lectures at Princeton Seminary. In addition to numerous articles, he has written the following books: Reason within the Bounds of Religion; Art in Action; Works and Worlds of Art; Education for Responsible Action; Until Justice and Peace Embrace; and Keeping Faith: Talks for New Faculty. A collection of his essays, including nine new ones, will be published this November: Understanding Liberal Democracy: Essays in Political Philosophy (ed. Terence Cuneo, in press).

This event is supported by the Boston University Center for the Humanities.

This lecture is free and open to the public.

For further information, please contact:
Boston University Institute for Philosophy & Religion
745 Commonwealth Avenue - Boston, MA 02215
Phone (617) 353-3067 - www.bu.edu/ipr