As the son of the Imam of the local Brooklyn mosque, eleven year-old Daud has to juggle the high expectations of his father (Maz Jobrani) and his feelings of isolation and difference – even from his peers in the Muslim community. Through an innocent act of good faith, Daud inadvertently befriends a group of Jewish boys who mistake him as a fellow classmate at their orthodox school, in the neighboring Jewish community. A genuine friendship grows between Daud and Yoav, one of the Jewish boys, and his family. Unable to resist the joy of a camaraderie that he has never felt before, “David,” as he is known to the kids, is drawn into a complicated dilemma inspired by youthful deceit and the best of intentions.
