

Dean – College of Dental Medicine

Nova Southeastern University (NSU) invites experienced and innovative academic Dental leaders to apply for the position of Dean of the College of Dental Medicine (CDM)

Located on a vibrant 300-acre campus in the heart of South Florida, Nova Southeastern University is the nation's eighth-largest, not-for-profit, independent university with a presence in nine countries around the world. Through five decades of explosive growth, our reputation for academic excellence and innovation continues to flourish. Founded in 1964, NSU offers undergraduate, graduate and professional degrees and certificate programs to approximately 37,600 full and part-time students in medicine, health sciences, computer sciences, law, education, psychology, business and marine biology.

Position Summary:

Embracing NSU's Vision 2020, Mission, and Core Values, the Dean leads the College of Dental Medicine (CDM) in providing health education of the highest quality, conducting important scientific research, promoting community engagement and ensuring excellence in student clinical experiences at the CDM's academic campuses and affiliated community sites.

The University seeks an inspirational leader and strategic thinker who can capitalize on the CDM's past success and move the CDM to the highest level of excellence.

Requirements:

The successful candidate will possess the following credentials and experience:

- DDS, DMD or dental equivalent
- Minimum of 10 years of academic experience in higher education with administrative responsibilities at an accredited institution of higher education
- Qualifications and record of achievement sufficient to be eligible for appointment at the rank of Professor in the CDM.
- A distinguished academic background to include a record of scholarly achievement, effective teaching, superb provision of clinical care, service and administration and nationally recognized in the profession with a track record of academic leadership
- Demonstrated experience in developing, implementing, and evaluating research programs
- Expertise in maintaining full compliance with Government, Contractual and University requirements and ensuring quality clinical services

For the complete job description, please apply online at: www.nsujobs.com to position #998095. Nova Southeastern University offers competitive compensation as well as an outstanding benefits package. EOE