

Phoenix, Arizona - Phoenix Children's Hospital (PCH), Arizona's only licensed children's hospital and one of the 10 largest children's hospitals in the country seeks an experienced physician leader for the role of Chief Medical and Patient Safety Innovation Officer (CMPSIO).

For 25 years, PCH has been providing specialty and sub-specialty inpatient, outpatient, and emergency care to patients throughout Arizona and other Southwestern states. As a major medical education center, the hospital sponsors a pediatric residency of 94 residents and nine fellowships programs. Research at this time focuses on bringing the latest therapies to patients through multi-institutional studies; PCH is currently participating in nearly 200 research studies.

The CMPSIO is a key executive position and will be part of a dynamic leadership team that is committed to the growth, expansion, and success of PCH as a nationally recognized premier destination for medical care, research, and medical education. As a member of the executive team, the CMPSIO will spearhead clinical initiatives aimed at enhancing quality, patient safety, and clinical integration. He/she will champion quality efforts and drive consistency of care throughout the organization by setting clear expectations, and working as the conduit and facilitator between administration and the medical staff.

The new CMPSIO will be an experienced physician leader who will be expected to provide leadership for the enhancement of a culture of shared responsibility and clinical practice standards which provide for the maximum patient safety and the highest quality of care delivered. He/she will have a substantial record of accomplishment of success as a practitioner and leadership achievement. The successful candidate will be board certified in a medical or surgical pediatric specialty and eligible for licensure in Arizona; an advanced healthcare management degree is desirable as well as knowledge and facility with EMR/CPOE.
