

Dear Lisa will be presented at the
Wakefield Center for Performing Arts

Tuesday, October 9

6:30 PM

High School students and parents are encouraged to attend. What you learn may save a daughter, sister, friend, cousin or even a son.

Boys can be victims of dating violence too.

Sponsored by the
Wakefield Alliance Against Violence

“Our deepest feelings cannot always find their way from hearts to words...”

A Dating Violence Prevention Program

In 1994, an ex-boyfriend whom Lisa Santoro had dated for 5 months murdered her. The typical warning signs that usually occur were not obvious. It was after Lisa's murder that her family found out the ex-boyfriend was stalking and planning Lisa's death.

Program Highlights

- A discussion about domestic and teen dating violence.
- A clear explanation about the different forms of abuse that can take place between dating couples.
- Tom Santoro sharing his daughter Lisa's story and personal letters from his journal.
- The program is designed to encourage students and parents to recognize patterns of abuse and how to safely end abusive relationships.

About Tom Santoro

"A Commitment to Inform"

Since Lisa's death, Tom has made a commitment to stop dating violence by informing students, parents and teachers about the different forms of abuse, signs to look for, and what to do if it is happening to you or someone you know.
