Dear Colleagues,

In 2011, we will celebrate the 40th anniversary of the International Technology Law Association (ITechLaw). A high point of the year-long commemoration will be the World Technology Law Conference and Annual Meeting. It is my pleasure to join with the San Francisco Planning Committee to invite you to join us at this thought-provoking event in one of the most culturally diverse and exciting cities in America.

Over the years, our members and conference attendees have come to expect first-class education on cutting edge topics, taught by industry leaders, coupled with unparalleled networking and social events. The 2011 World Technology Law Conference and Annual Meeting will not disappoint. Each of the two days of events will have a focus. On Thursday, speakers will cast their sights back on the last four decades to help leaders of today navigate the legal waters of tomorrow's technology marketplace. On Friday, attendees will hear experts tackle the proposition of technology lawyers as risk managers.

Beyond the educational content, part of the richness of this event is the diversity of the attendees and speakers from a wide cross section of the technology law sector. From leading attorneys in private practice and in-house counsel, to business managers and executives, government officials, and academics – our attendees travel from over 50 countries to participate in our sessions and meet new colleagues from across the globe.

The diversity of our attendees is also reflected in our host city, San Francisco. The iconic Golden Gate Bridge, colorful neighborhoods, the infamous Alcatraz, and some of the finest restaurants in the nation, await attendees. For the more ambitious travelers, the treasures of wine country are just a short drive away.

I invite you to share this invitation with your colleagues, so they too may benefit from this special 40th anniversary event. I look forward to seeing you in San Francisco.

Regards,

Sandra A. Jeskie, President, ITechLaw
