Join Andrew Steed for 2 days of deep shamanic work loving the land and working with the dragons. We will work with water, earth, fire and air. Come and connect with the spirits of the land, the majesty of the bay and the dragons who live within and upon her as we work a shamanic pathway with and as the elements.

Honoring the stories etched in the land and our ancestral roots we will connect deeply with our allies and guides. We will connect with our authentic voice and the beauty of our own hearts, prepare ourselves to be hollow bones and allow the flow of love to infuse the Dragon Lines of planet earth/planet water. We will work closely with the Fae and with nature. This workshop will take place predominantly outside on the land.

Andrew Steed has been working as a Celtic shamanic practitioner, Bard and leader of sacred travel experiences in the British Isles and Ireland since the mid to late 1990's. He is a descendant of the Davidson & Innes Clans of Alba and of the Steed and Daines tribe, the Gypsy River Folk of the Fens. He invokes Spirit in the ancient tongue of our Celtic ancestors. He teaches internationally and has been leading Celtic rituals throughout the USA, in Barbados and on 50 independently led pilgrimages in Scotland, Ireland, Cornwall and Wales since 1999. He is a professional storyteller & an author of Celtic Spiritual Teachings. With his strong Celtic connections, we will work closely with the triple goddess Brigid and with the Merlin.
