ADMIRAL ROBERT J. PAPP, USCG
Annual "A Community That Cares" Event
Friday, March 16, 2012

The Camden Partnership is honored to join with the Camden-Kings Bay Council Navy League in bringing the Coast Guard's top leader and executive to Camden County. The Commandant of the United States Coast Guard, Admiral Robert J. Papp, will be our guest speaker for the annual "A Community That Cares" luncheon on Friday, March 16, 2012 at 12:00 noon.

We want to celebrate the United States Coast Guard and the dedicated men and women of our nation's smallest sea service who call Camden County home. As you may remember, Camden County came very close to losing the Coast Guard's Maritime Safety and Security Team (MSST 91108) based in St Marys. The economic impact of the military in Camden County is over $707 million and the military impact in the State of Georgia is over $25 billion (w/o multiplier).

Last year, with fierce advocacy and unwavering support from the people of Camden County, The Camden Partnership and the Navy League were able to devote time and resources to educate members of Congress on both sides of the aisle on the importance of restoring the Coast Guard budget. Part of that restoration was funding for four MSST's slated for decommissioning, including our own. This is what we do and this is what PARTNERSHIPS can accomplish!

Eighty-Five members of our MSST continue to call Camden County home, contributing their time and talents to our community in numerous ways, due in part to our collective efforts advocating on their behalf. They, along with the Maritime Force Protection Unit Kings Bay, complete our Coast Guard family in Camden County.

The Camden Partnership and the Navy League need your support to make this event a success.

One of the many things we are doing in preparation is asking the cities of Kingsland, St. Marys, and Woodbine and Camden County to declare March 16th, 2012 as Admiral Robert J. Papp Day

We are grateful for the opportunity to host Admiral Papp in our community and request your consideration of sponsorship for the annual "A Community That Cares" luncheon. We appreciate your willingness to participate in this event and support our efforts to strengthen military and community partnerships for quality growth in Camden County.

For additional information and to lend your support to this effort, please contact the Camden Partnership at 912-882-2636, TheCamdenPartnership@tds.net or Sheila on her personal cell phone: 912-223-3588.

Thank you for your continued support.

Respectfully,

Sheila McNeill, President
