Contributions are not deductible as charitable contributions for federal income tax purposes. Contributions may only be received from individuals who are United States citizens or foreign nationals with permanent resident status in the United States, or from PACs registered with the Federal Election Commission. The maximum an individual may contribute to Constitutional Conservatives Fund is $5,000 per calendar year, $10,000 from a couple drawn on a joint bank account if each spouse signs the check.

Contributions from corporations, labor unions, national banks and federal contractors may not be accepted by Constitutional Conservatives Fund. Contributions via credit card may be made solely from a credit card held in the name of an individual donor and not a corporate credit card. Federal law requires Constitutional Conservatives Fund to use its best efforts to obtain and report the name, mailing address, employer and occupation of donors whose contribution aggregates over $200 in a calendar year.

The Need to Limit Federal Power

The federal government has become too big, too expensive, and too intrusive as Congress has ignored important constitutional limitations on its own power. The Constitutional Conservatives Fund (“CCF”) is a political action committee dedicated to the cause of finding, funding, and supporting conservative candidates who are committed to the cause of restoring constitutionally limited government.

Rooted in the text of the Constitution and informed by more than two centuries of historical precedent, the concept of constitutionally limited government was succinctly memorialized by James Madison in Federalist 45. The powers of the federal government, Madison explained, are “few and defined,” while those reserved to the states are “numerous and indefinite.” We have drifted far from that understanding in recent decades.

Consequences of a Runaway Federal Government

The consequences of that drift have been disastrous. As a result of the federal government’s unfettered “mission creep,” we have severely eroded the sovereign authority of the states, accumulated a national debt of nearly $15 trillion, adopted a tax system that requires many Americans to work three, four, or even five months out of every year just to pay their taxes, and created a bureaucratic leviathan that regulates nearly every aspect of our existence. All of this has occurred at the expense of American ingenuity, economic prosperity, and individual liberty.

Freedom-loving Americans understand that the time has come to restore constitutionally limited government. CCF wants to help.

Stand with Mike Lee

CCF’s Chairman, U.S. Senator Mike Lee (R-UT), was elected in 2010 after defeating a three-term incumbent, much to the surprise and dismay of the political establishment. Senator Lee understands what it takes to fight against the establishment and win. He also understands that the fight continues within the halls of Congress.

CCF needs your help and support. Please sign up for updates and make a contribution to help CCF find, fund, and support the kind of statesmen we so desperately need in Washington—those who are ready and willing to stand as champions of constitutionally limited government.

This is a conservative cause that benefits all fiscally responsible conservatives – not just those in the State of Utah. We all know Mike’s father – Rex Lee – and the lasting impact he has made through his service to President Ronald Reagan and to Brigham Young University. Mike attended most of his father’s arguments before the U.S. Supreme Court, giving him a unique, hands-on experience and understanding of government up close.

With so few opportunities in California where we can really help, supporting U.S. Senator Mike Lee’s efforts is our opportunity to make a consequential difference on the national level and support a legacy that has meant so much to us all. Help CCF get this country back on track and win critical elections in 2012!
