Fall feels like home.

Growing up in the Midwest, I embraced all seasons and Fall has always been my favorite. The changing of leaves, the start of a school year, kicking off the football season and chillier weather are all things I loved about the season changing.

Living in California, Fall is ...well, Fall is a different kind of season and it is one that I have fully embraced. It has warm days but cooler nights, and crisp mornings to walk my dog Peanut. I can enjoy my lightweight sweaters at night, but can still wear a silk dress during the day. As the temperature changes later in the season, my heart races with anticipation because I am able to wear my loves – my Rachel Comey flat boots, my Mina + Olya cape and my Malene Birger fedora hat. I absolutely love layers and there is no place like the Bay to wear layers on layers throughout the season.

This season, it is all about the girl next door who has a mysterious side to her. She's a lady always, but has a rocker edge to her. She loves wearing pants just as much as she loves wearing skirts. She believes that buying separates will give her more options in her wardrobe because she likes mixing it all up. She loves vintage, fur (real or faux), jackets, lots of texture, interesting prints and of course, the perfect accessories to make it her own look.

Have fun this season...Embrace your feminine and your rocker side!
