WHO ATTENDS

- Water and wastewater system operators who are the frontline responders to an emergency.
- Policy and decision-makers who direct overall water and wastewater programs.
- Emergency management staff who are involved in responding to agency emergencies of all sizes.
- Government managers and executives who are responsible for protecting local and state government systems and critical infrastructures.
- Senior managers directly charged with protecting their corporate or government infrastructure.
- Civil and construction engineering professionals.

EVENT PROGRAM

This year's conference will include The Strategic Overview of Disaster Management for Water and Wastewater Utilities, a 4 hour, CEU-eligible training developed by the U.S. Department of Homeland Security.

The training provides an overview of disaster management, covering the various natural and man-made (accidental or intentional) disasters and their effects on water and wastewater systems. Participants are guided through portions of the Environmental Protection Agency's (EPA) Response Protocol Toolbox (RPTB) to identify steps in the response and recovery processes. Case studies on a variety of disaster incidents, as well as hypothetical situations for water and wastewater incidents are examined. Participants will practice developing disaster response plans.

We will inform you of program updates as they develop.
