Ms. Weinberg is a member of the Association of Government Accountants' Financial Management Standards Board, the Comeback America Initiative Advisory Council and the University of Denver's School of Accountancy Advisory Board. She has served as an independent legislative advisor to members of Congress on Federal budgeting and accounting issues. She was also a member of the Academy of Government Accountability Advisory Council and two FASAB Task Forces. Her editorials about the Federal budget, Social Security, Medicare and other national issues have appeared repeatedly in numerous publications, including USA Today, Chicago Tribune and Chicago Sun-Times. She has been a guest on local and national television, and radio shows and is often engaged to speak on Federal and State budget and accounting issues.

"It comes as no surprise government employee pension costs are the main driver of Illinois' problems. But the governor's numbers don't tell the whole story."

-Truth in Accounting founder Sheila A. Weinberg
